INSTRUCTION

1. A unit is understood as an organizational unit that organizes and implements education, i.e. a faculty, college of studies, college of inter-area individual studies or university-wide organizational unit.
2. Union steward may be present during all activities of the representatives of the Electoral Commission on the voting day, in particular during the conduct of voting and during the counting of votes, acting as an observer; he has the right to submit comments and objections on a current basis.
3. If union steward makes it difficult for the representatives of the Electoral Commission to perform their activities, the representative of the Electoral Commission should admonish him and instruct him about the possibility of submitting an application to the Disciplinary Commission for Students and Doctoral Candidates. A note about the union steward's improper behavior shall be included in the election protocol. In the event of failure to comply with the admonition, the representative of the Electoral Commission may exclude the rights of union steward.
